“You are the light of the world. Let your light shine before all.”

In Sacred Scripture the image of light is often used to represent God’s presence and grace. However, God is also present in what feels like darkness and absence. This retreat day will give us the opportunity to prayerfully consider God’s action in both light and darkness as we live out of the message of Jesus. God’s invitation to be “women of hope” and to “Let our light shine before all” will offer us practical ways of responding to the gospel message. The day will include presentations, time for personal prayer and reflection, and Liturgy.
